On Friday night last, the 18th inst., she, with the other persons, arrived in Jersey City from Mominies of Friday indict and the strength of the persons, arrived in Jersey City from Mominies of the Price of t Mrs. Joanna Brennan died of yellow fever yesterday morning at 6 o'clock, at 345 East 109th street, a tenement house containing eight families. On Friday night last, the 18th inst., she,

The trunks were unpacked and their contents scread around.

The families in the tenement had begun to wonder on Thursday who the strangers were, where they had come from, and why they kept so much to their room, when it was whispered about among the women that a physician had visited the room. One thing was certain, he had knocked at one of the doors and asked for and received a spoon. It was Dr. David C. Cocks of 229 East 112th street, who had been hastify summoned by Mr. Corbett. Mrs. Brennan was then in the last stages of yellow lever, although conscious. The physician sent a despatch to the Health Board, and meanwhile summoned Dr. C. Ruxton Ellison of 215 East 112th street to advise with him as to the treatment. Dr. E. H. Janes of the Health Board went immediately to the spot, saw that Mrs. Brennan was scriously sick with yellow fever, and ordered the immediate use of carbolic acid and other disinfestants with all the ordinary precautions to prevent the spread of the discuss. The tenants had by this time learned that the dissertance was scribble with the present of the discuss. The tenants had by this time learned that the dissertance was scribble were and men tother distinct antis with an the ordinary cautions to prevent the spread of the dise. The tenants had by this time learned the disease was yellow fever, and men, men, and childen gathered in groups on the ewalk and talked excitedly. Only one family, ever, that of Mrs. Walker, went away from beauty and the disease of th old goods. Frencen died in the early morning, and Mrs. Brennan died in the early morning, and the body was immediately placed in a sealed fron casket. The casket was put in a wooden, planed box. Then it was taken in a wazon to Calvary Cemetery by Mr. Corbett. Dr. Janes sent a despatch to Health Officer S. O. Vanderpoel, at Quarantine, for a tug to be sent to the loot of East 109th street. The tug Pitt made the landing about the middle of the forencon. Soon after Mrs. Brennan died Mr. Fitzgibbons was seized with vomiting. As the forencon wore on he grow feverish and complained of a racking headache. Dr. Janes said that the symptoms were alarmingly like those of yellow fever. Mrs. Fitzgibbons, too, complained of feeling ill, but as her symptoms were not, so far, those of the fever, Dr. Janes hoped that her illness was only the result of her unwearying attention to her sister. Mrs. Brennan. The girls were bright and seemed to be in a healthy condition. Dr. Janes asked them whether they would not go to Quarantine, and they all said that if he thought it best they would not go to Quarantine, and they all said that if he thought it best they would os o willingly. Then two wazons were driven to the deep of the tenement. The trunks that had been repacked were tumbled in with the matteresses on top. In the other the sick ones were put, will the remainder of the party walked to the tig. The room occupied by the refugees was again.

The room occupied by the refugees was again theroughly disinfected by carbolic acid. Sulphur was not used, as a woman in the house was too sick to be moved out of her room. The fumes would have penetrated to her room. Dr. Janes does not believe that harm can come to residents of the neighborhood.

The Unfortunate Steamship City of Merida

Towed Back to Quarantine. The Havana steamship City of Merida had almost completed her loading at Pier 3. North River, at noon yesterday, as Dr. Vander poel the Health Officer, hurried down upon the wharf and asked that all work should be stopped as the vessel must at once be sent to Quarantine. When asked what this meant, he replied that he had been deceived by the en-gineer as to the number of cases of sickness resembling yellow fever contracted in the vesand he could not trust any statement made represented to him that great inconvenience would arise if the steamer was sent to Quaran at that minute, but Dr. Vanderpoel replied that the safety of the community was of far bere importance to him than the convenience

While the preparations for towing the City of Merida down the bay were in progress, a woman well dressed and apparently perfectly familiar with the approaches to the ship, walked along the pier and stepped upon the gangway. Dr. Vanderpoel was about to stop her, but on being told that she was the stewardess of the vessel he allowed her to go on board. She was stuying with some friends on shore, and had only gone on board to get a parcel. On her reappearance on deck with a paper parcel under her arm, she was told that she could step ashore in New York no more until the City of Merida returned from Havana after her next trip. She expressed her opinion of this in pretty strong language, went to her cabin, and was seen no more.

When this desire of the Governor was made public strong pressure was brought to bear to induce him to reconsider the matter and allow his name to be again presented to the people as the standard-bearer of the Republican party and yesterday the Journal, on the authority of Col-lector Beard, made the following announce-

Since Gov. Taibot's letter to Judge Russell announcing a deare to withdraw from political life, there has been some uncertainty regarding his relations to the forthcoming campaign. Gov. Taibot, having considered the matter fully, has, by the advice of triends and in accordance with what he deems his duty to the Republican party, concluded to allow his name to be presented to the Republican Convention. This means, of course, that the Republican ticket will be Taibot and Long.

present Collectors were the result of political present Collectors were the result of political pressure by different factions of the Republican party.

The Republicans last year, alarmed at the popular demand for reform in the management of State affairs, and appalled at the following of Gen. Butler, made profuse promises to the people that the alleged abuses should be checked, and the taint in the political atmosphere removed. They are charged with breaking those promises. None of the abuses against which the people rebelled has been radically reformed, the power of the ring which has so long controlled the fleshpots of Massachusetts being too strong to be overcome. It is true a few salaries were reduced, and, under the preasure of public clamor, the Logislature adjourned a few days earlier than usual; but that has not, apparently, satisfied the masses of the people, even among the adherents to their own party. The popular verdict seems to be that the Republicans failed utterly to redeem the spirit of their ante-election promises and meet the emergencies of the times in the matter of public enterprises.

The intentions of Gen. Butler in the coming campaign have been the subject of much speculation. It has been generally believed that he would enter the field again, but until the present time that belief has been tinged with more or less of doubt. All guesses and speculations, however, are ended by the following correspondence:

The call mentioned by Col. Usher invites those favorable to the nomination of Gen. Butler to elect delegates who shall convene at Worcester on the 2d day of September to ratify such nomination and select a general State toket, Notice is also given that headquarters will be opened early in September.

The headquarters of Gen. Butler will be at 9 Tremont place. Gen. Butler is away on a cruise in his yacht America, and will be gone four or five weeks. Until the return of Col. Usher, who is in Europe, the Hon. John J. Baker of Beveriy, for several years the candidate of the Prohibitionists for Governor, will manage the preliminaries of the canvass, and he and Col. Usher will be the most active lieutenants of the General in the busiest of the political contest.

The Prohibitionists will make nominations, as usual, and possibly the Woman Suffragists; but the leading figures in the contest will again be Benjamin F. Butler and Thomas Talbot.

The finest race of the day followed the send off. The five came sweeping up the track, close as a band of Spartans charging through a defile. Grand Master heid the post of honor by half a length at the judges' stand on the first furions, Enquiress Japhing, Bill Dillon by the side of Enquiress Japhing, Bill Dillon by the side of Enquiress, Jackson also lapping, with Simoon in the tail of the bunch. Around they ran in solid form, no daylight showing through the bunch as they raced around the backstretch and lower turn. Simoon had taken front rank at the upper turn, but she gave way to Grand Master in the stretch, and fell to the rear. As they raced up toward the finish, it was still anybody's fight. Enquiress and Bill Dillon, who had modestly kert in the shade of the bunch, were now observed dashing up, Bill inside and Enquiress near the outer rails. Grand Master was also coming bravely in the centre, It was soon neck and neck with Bill and Grand Master, Bill forging ahead at the finish, and winning by a short half length in 2:01. Grand Master was lapped by Enquiress, who came in third, Jackscrew fourth, and Simoon last.

HOSE IN TRENTON.

The City Council Unwittingly Misled by the Fire Commissioners.

TRENTON, July 25 .- A few hundred feet of fire hose would seem to be very inoffensive, yet a few feet of hose have thrown this city into a ferment. After the little skirmish the firemen indulged in at the burning of the Third Church, on the night of the Fourth, the discovery was made that there was an emergency for hose. The Common Council referred the subject to the Fire Committee, and these gentlemen, not being familiar with the city charter, have involved the Council in a queer muddle. Letters were sent by the Fire Committee to each of the four india rubber companies of Trenton, inviting them to bid for 4,500 feet of hose, without however, specifying the quality, or requiring any guarantee. When the bids were opened in the Council the company that offered the work for the least money offered no guarantee as to time; but the company whose bid was the highest guaranteed the hose for six years. Here was a nice point for discussion. But, after some wrampling, the contract was awarded to Whitehead Bros., the highest bidders. Then came to light a clause in the city charter requiring all contracts involving $200 or more to be advertised. The City Solicitor gave an opinion that the hose contract must be advertised. A member of the Council immediately produced the adverse opinion of the lawyer of the successful rubber company. The Council stood by their former vote, and thus virtually repudiated City Solicitor Dayton. Mayor Rice refused to sign the papers. Mr. Bayton threatened to resign, and several public-spirited inhabitants of Trenton threatened to carry the quarrel up to the Supreme Court, if the Council persisted in its course.

At a special meeting, last evening, the first viting them to bid for 4,500 feet of hose, with-

At a special meeting, last evening, the first motion was for a revess of fifteen minutes; but the recess was not productive of an agreement, and the Mayor's refusal to sign the centract with Whitehead Bros. was read and filed. A resolution was then introduced by a Second Ward member, that the proposals be advertised in the city newspapers. Mr. Taylor offered a substitute, explaining more explicitly what kind of hose was required, and the Council spent an hour in discussion, and then Mr. Taylor's resolution was adopted.

THE RUNAWAY BURGLARS.

The Shooting for which the Son of their Pas

George Rettinger is proprietor of the Pas sale City Hotel, from which Porter and Irving escaped on Wednesday morning. Detectives said yesterday that the family are well known to have been on friendly terms with Mother Mandelbaum for years. Rettinger's son, a young man of 19, who went by the name of Jack Reynolds, is now under indictment for shooting Policeman Joseph Leacock of the Mercer street force. Policeman Leacock was found patrolling his bent ir Bleecker street yesterday, and he gave the following account of the shooting:
"It was about half past 2 o'clock on the morning of Nov. 30, 1878. I stood on the corner of Bleecker and Mott streets, when I heard cries ing of Nov. 30, 1878. I stood on the corner of Bleecker and Mott streets, when I heard cries of 'Murder,' 'Police,' and the report of firearms. I ran toward the Bowery, and met Rettinger, alias Reynolds, running toward me. I stepped close to the buildings, thinking I had a good case and had got the right fellow. I intended to grab him as he came along. As he came up I saw he had a pistol in his hand, and, without saying a word, he aimed at me and fired. The ball passed through the fleshy part of my right arm, midway between the elbow and the shoulder, I did not know how bad it was at the time, but, quick as lightning, so quick that I had no recollection of it afterward. I changed my club to my left hand, and brought him down with one blow. He aimed another shot at me, and I knocked the pistol out of his hand with my club. It was a small revolver, and I've got it now. Then, with my arm still bleeding, I arrested him and took him to the station, when it appeared that he had attempted to rob a man named Goldsehmidt, at a bail in the Germania Assembly Rooms. He was indicted on Dec. 9, and held to bail in $1.500. His first bondsman was Mat. Coyle, who takes out the license for Owney Geoghegan's place in the Bowery. He forfeited that bail and was arrested again on a bench warrant in a dive' in First street. Then he got tailed out again. But his bondsman was Henry F. Wagner, who claimed to own the house at 64 Goerek street. Rettinger forfeited his bail again, and has not been seen since. I heard several times that he was in the ward again, but could not Rnd him. Execution was obtained against Wagner's property, but he proved to be a regular straw bail, as he did not own the house at 64 Goerek street. Rettinger was well known about here. He was formerly a clerk in a law office, and the lawyers he worked for were his counse in the case for shooting me. I knew at the time that Rettinger's father kept a hotel in Passaic, because he was pointed out to me in court. Efforts were made at the time to get me to let the young ma of 'Murder,' 'Police,' and the report of fire-

Although the $2,500 reward offered by Sheriff Ribey of Brooklyn for the capture of his escaped prisoners, Porter and Irving, was limited to thirty days from June 1 in the notices sent out, the Sheriff said y-sterday that the reward stood good, and he would pay it when the thieves were returned.

After Several months of hard study, he presented himself in London for the official examination, and, to his intense disappointment, was "pin-ked." He teit his position so acutely that he determined to run away from home, and, instead of returning to Walex, came to this country in one of the Gauntinine of steamers. He had little money, and became very despondent. On Thursday he went to Coney Island, but he failed to find any enjoyment. He draink several classes of heer, and was slightly under the influence of liquor.

While thinking of returning home he put his hand in his pantaloons pocket, expecting to this $12, which, to his surprise, was mixing. He warched his other pockets, but could not find it, and be came to the conclusion that he had been robbed. His samd happening to light on a pistol, which he had carried with him from England, he took it out, and he carried with him from England, he took it out, and he had been could tarriy realize what he was doing, had sent a builted into his breast.

The Newark Excise Commissioners' meeting, yesterday, was exciting. Browers, ministers, barroom keepers, politicians, and many temporance workers attended. The Board were to act upon the applications for licenses against which objections had been made by the Law and Order Association. President John Y. Foster called the Board to order at 4 o'clock. The Roy. W. W. McNair, the secretary of the Law and Order Association, and Theodore L. Currie, the association's lawyer, objected to the granting of a license to M. K. Ehlers, because the former owner of his barroom, Hermann Ehlers, had been convicted of selling on Sunday. The Rey. Mr. McNair said: "There are other things against Hermann Ehlers."

"Are there?" a dark-haired, good-looking young man who stepped within the bar railings inquired. "You, Mr. McNair, have made charges against Hermann Ehlers. I am that young man who stepped within the bar railings inquired. "You, Mr. McNair, have made charges against Hermann Ehlers. I am that person. Prove what you say, if you can. I demand it."

Before the Rev. Mr. McNair could reply, Mr. Currie sprang to his feet and said: "We know charges against Hermann Ehlers. I am that person. Prove what you say, if you can. I demand it."

Before the Rev. Mr. McNair could reply, Mr. Currie sprang to his feet and said: "We know you were drunk in your own saloon." Ehlers made a quick spring toward Currie, and the spectators apprehended a fight. Ehlers was stopped, however, by a word from a German lawyer. President Foster, in guick, nervous words called the angry disputants to order, and the Commissioners voted to reject Ehler's application for a license.

To the application of J. J. Hanly for license to keep a barroom objection was made by Peter T. Spear, who said he owned property near Mr. Hanly's place, and that he demanded protection. He had seen children come out of the place with pails of beer.

J. J. Hanly, a young man with sandy hair, appeared as his own lawyer. "I keep a quiet saloon," he said," and no one has complained of me but Mr. Spear. The reason is that I once appeared as a witness against him in a trial.

Mr. Spear arose to reply, but his voice could not be heard for the clapping of hands that followed Hanly's speech. Mr. Spear was understood to denvithe charge, and to say he had no personal feeling against Mr. Hanly, but that he and other property owners claimed protection against the business Mr. Hanly was engaged in. Mr. Hanly (his voice trembling with emotion) then said: "I can't speak so fluently as him, for I was not educated like him. When I was young I was in the army fighting for my country, while he was safe at home making money." A burst of applause followed this speech, and the applause was redoubled when Major M. T. Dwyre, formerly Cautain of Police, said he deemed if his duty to add, as a soldier, that Mr. Hanly was a brave, honest, and respectable man, and that he knew from personal knowledge that he kept a respectable place. E. Marx Hasselboch then added to the excitement by averring that Mr. Spear said to him on the stroet, just before the Commissioners met, that he was determined to get the floor, and in the confusion t

These societies asked in behalf of the Germans of Newark, that Mr. Voght be granted a license. The letters were placed on file. The Commissioners then went into executive session and granted many licenses.

While the Commissioners were privately considering the applications, an excited multitude gathered in the hallways and vestibule of the City Hall. After the Board had finished its business and it was learned that Mr. Voght had been denied a license for Union Park, the Germans became very much excited. The Rev. About a month ago the trustees voted to close the school only during the month of Angust, instead of July and August, as in former years, and not to pay the teachers salaries during the vacation. This met with much onspiroval among the teachers, and it is said that Mr. Thompson and Miss Haggerty were the first composed the action of the Beard. A petition was circulated, which, after receiving a large number of signatures, was frowarded to School commissioner King, asking that the vacation be fixed at two months, and that the teachers be paid in full during vacation, as was the custom with the schools of the other villages in the county. Much indication is expressed over the removal of Mr. Thompson and Miss Haggerty.

An impression prevails that the national banks, whose bonds deposited as security for circulation have been called by the Treasury, must buy 4 Feents or submit to the redeemption of their notes. This, however, is a mistake, since any of the $200.000.000 of 5s and the $500,000.000 of 5s attil outstanding are available as substitutes for the called bonds, and, from the large purchases of them made daily, are, it would seem, about to be used for that purpose. According to the scheme for reorganizing the Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Lafayette Raircoad Company, new 6 Feent, bonds to the amount of $7.500.000 are to be issued, and $6.885.000 of the obligations of the present corporation. New stock to the amount of $4.000.000 will be used. Some of the bonds not included in the exchange will receive 70 Feent, of the new stock, and the old common stock comes in for six new shares for 100 of the present issue, but to secure this $100 cash must be paid on each 100 shares, for which a $100 6 Feent, bond of the company will be given.

The town of Lathrop, Clinton County, Missouri, has compromised with its creditors at 5 cents on the dollar. The debt of the town is $40.000 in bonds, with $40.000 more of unpaid interest. The bondholders propose to take $4.000 and call it square. Over one-half the $4.000 has been subscribed and the other half will be raised without doubt.

The French 5 Feents, which are now redeemable at the pleasure of the Government, are to be allowed to run for the present. The reasons given by the Minister of Finance for not converting them into a new stock bearing a lower rate of interest are more ingenious than satisfactory. Hesays that the conversion would be troublesome in case many holders refused the new stock and insisted upon having their money. This would necessitate a loan, which high cause losses as great as the gains accruing from reducing the interest. It street. He showed that in twenty-three years he had never soid on Sunday, never soid to an intoxicated person, and had always obeyed the law.

The Rev. Mr. Parsons objected to granting him a license for 348 Broad street. He said that the Eighth Ward Reform Club objected to the place. They are raising men from the guiter," the Rev. Mr. Parsons said to the Commissioners, and you are dragging them down by licensing these barrooms. Mr. Van Valkenburgh was granted a license for 516 Broad street, and action on 348 was postponed.

President Foster said that the Commissioners will meet again on Thursday. But those, he continued, who make application and pay self-until they get their license. They are liable to indictment if they sell. We don't make complaints, but neighbors might. I say this for the benefit of the saloon keepers. Again, there are two hundred saloon keepers who have not yet applied for license. They will be prosecuted it they fail to do so at once."

After the adjournment of the public meeting the Hon. Samuel Morrow asked the Commissioners to reconsider the case of Beda Voght, the lease of the Union Park, which, he said, was the favorite pleasure resort of the Germans of Newark. He presented letters from the Philharmonic, Arion, Germania, and Froshime Singing Societies, the German Hospital Association. Hexhomer Poes 34, G. A. R., the trustees of the German and American Elementary High Grammar School, and other associations representing in the aggregate 5,000 persons. These societies asked, in behalf of the Germans of Newark, that Mr. Voght be granted a license, The etters were placed on file. The Commissioners then went into executive seasons. While the Commissioners were privately considering the applications, an excited multi-tude gathered in the halkways and vestibule of the Germans so of Newark, that Mr. Voght be granted a license and it was learned that Mr. Voght be granted a license sond it was learned and twenty thousand pounds of the Gury Hall. A Mammoth Vinegar Factory,
Fron the Chicago Tribune
Among the myriads who during this hot and debilitating season daily refresh a health appetite and intrigerate in season daily refresh a health appetite and intrigerate in the property of the property of the property of the principal part, few are aware that this excellent article and cultury staple is mostly manufactured in Criegar. Other vinegar works exist, to be sure, but the most extensive establishment in the United States is that of Mesara E. L. PRUSSING A CO, on Michigan av., near South Water st., and is one of the very few if not the only one, in fact, the production of which is entirely free from all mineral acids and operallic compounds of every kind whatseever. We assert this upon high chemical authority. It has also been repeatedly soit-cited by the still severer tests of numerous fair committee paintes, and always received the first prize. So beautiful and lithe and tall, With even so bright and checks so fair, Why let your teeth destroy it all? For they are dark, and feel the want Of a soft brush and SOZODONT.
